Der Londoner Alan Skidmore (geb. 21. April 1942) begann seinen Weg als Tenorsaxophonist in Bluesrock-Bands, bevor er 1969 mit Kenny Wheeler und Tony Oxley sein eigenes Quintett gründete. Der grosse Erfolg beim Jazz Festival Montreux im selben Jahr und sein CD-Debut festigten seinen Ruf als führender europäischer Saxophonist. Aus der Zusammenarbeit mit Musikern in Südafrika entstand nach 1995 die Band «Ubizo». Auch die Bigband-Arbeit des vielseitigen Musikers wird DRS2-Musikredaktor und Saxophonist Beat Blaser als Gast von Andreas Müller-Crepon beleuchten
